VILLAGE OF GLEN ELLYN LAUNCHES NEW MAPPING TOOL, HIGHLIGHTING DEVELOPMENTS

Glen Ellyn, IL – The Village of Glen Ellyn has launched an online mapping tool to showcase developments throughout the Village. Using technology known as Geographic Information Systems (GIS), viewers can visit the Village’s website to click on a point on a Glen Ellyn map and instantly learn about a development project, including a description and images.

This new, interactive map offers viewers an inside look at Village projects including current commercial, institutional and multifamily projects, as well as new subdivisions. Additional information, including the status, categorized by currently under construction, approved but not under construction yet, conceptual and proposed can be found by clicking further on a development project.

Along with residents interested in staying informed on developments around town, this tool also offers a benefit to business owners and real estate professionals looking for a development site to locate, operate or expand their business in Glen Ellyn.

“Using the GIS mapping tool provides immediate access to in-depth information, all in one location,” said Staci Hulseberg, Planning and Development Director for the Village of Glen Ellyn. “This new GIS map represents a significant step up in the use of modern web technologies and puts Glen Ellyn in the forefront.”

Viewers can access the map by visiting the Village’s website at www.glenellyn.org and click on the “Current Development Projects” icon along the left side of the home page. Managed by the Village’s Planning and Development Department, the map will be continuously updated as a project status changes and new developments occur.
