Date: May 12, 13, 14 & 15

Location: Glen Ellyn Civic Center, 535 Duane Street, Glen Ellyn

The Wheaton/Glen Ellyn Branch of AAUW (American Association of University Women) is hosting its 49th annual used, unscanned, book sale on Thursday May 13 and Friday May 14 from 9:00 AM to 9:00 PM at the Glen Ellyn Civic Center. Admission is free. There will be a presale night, Wednesday, May 12 from 6:30 - 9:30 PM for a donation of $10.00; children are free; scanner fee for dealers is $20.00. On Saturday, May 15, books are available by the bag for $10.00. The 20,000+ books are conveniently arranged by subject category and range in price from $2.00, to rare books, individually priced. Included in the sale are an outstanding group of children's books, excellent nonfiction and biography, a large number of cookbooks and many hardcover action-thriller books like Grisham, Dick Francis, and Tom Clancy, along with lots of poetry, drama, and classics.

This year marks the 49th annual book sale sponsored by the Wheaton/Glen Ellyn branch of AAUW. AAUW promotes equity for all women and girls, life long education, and positive societal change. All proceeds from this book sale fund local scholarships and AAUW Education Foundation projects. Over the years, thousands of dollars have been raised, and donated, in scholarships.
